

Contributions

Contributions may be made to the Foundation through estates and trusts, as well as by individual donors or special interest groups. These funds may be designated for specific use by the donor. Scholarships, memorials and endowments named for individuals or groups may also be created through the Foundation.

Distribution of Funds

Annual distribution of funds are administered through the Foundation to several charitable and not-for-profit organizations. The Columbian Club is especially proud of its service to many of these organizations, including Villa Scalabrini, Italian Cultural Center, Dominican Priory, Mercy Home and the Clearbrook School.

As an alternative to making a general donation, your tax-deductible contribution to the Foundation may be distributed per your specific request. Funds may be earmarked to support:

- scholarships
- religious organizations
- scientific or medical research
- literacy
- children's health and/or welfare programs
- substance abuse prevention

The trustees will be happy to assist you in creating a specific gift or endowment.
